THE SMARTEST SECURITY IS IN THE CARDS

SMART end users know that smart cards, not the old fashioned magnetic stripe and proximity cards, are the physical and logical access credential of the future. SMARTER end users have already analyzed what they need to do to move off the old credential and onto the new smart credential. The benefits are clear, compliance factors are strengthened, security is top notch, and the budgets are ready.

The SMARTEST end users have already discovered Quintron's AccessNsite, the industry's leading cross-platform, database independent, enterprise-ready security management software that is smart card ready, HSPD-12 compliant and capable of growing with your future physical and cyber security challenges.
